

"When I first saw Geac's software, I was blown away. The integration between project management and accounting was tighter than any other we've ever seen."

"StarProject for Notes™ and StarBuilder® provide crucial and truly unique integration between project management and job cost accounting that no one else offers," says Eric Rose, president and owner of E. M. Rose Builders. "StarProject for Notes helps contractors address issues like lost change orders, lost work orders, discrepancies between financial reports and current project status, and poor communications between all project participants."

Never before have project management, estimating, and accounting been more in tune with each other! But don't take our word for it. See what some of our other customers have to say about Geac.
